

Cindy is a 3rd generation horsewoman from New Carlisle, Ohio. She has been horseback as long as she can remember. She has shown quarter horses and paints all her life along side of her grandfather, mother or her husband. The husband-wife team has had many state and world champions in their 20 years of marriage.

She has sat on the OPHC board for the last two years and has been a national director alternate during that time, as well. She is on the regional club committee and most recently was ask to sit on the youth committee at the national convention. She has always brought fresh back ideas from the convention.

Cindy has worked with her father in their manufactured home communities since she was in high school. She enjoys selling families a new or preowned home in their manicured parks. Her duties also include financial and general management for these parks.

Her family includes husband Tim and son Casey. They live on their horse farm in rural New Carlisle, Ohio. She enjoys spending time together with her family and keeping up with them. Their horse travels have brought many friendships throughout the country that she treasures.
